web design & development services

Service First

Sure, we deliver bespoke, engaging, easy to use web-based platforms that make business easier for our clients.

But what sets us apart is our service model.

Throughout the design and development process, you'll get clear goals, open communication, and adaptive engagement.

There is a little bit of magic in building great websites — but we're here to demystify the process. We'll stay on track and you'll stay informed, every step of the way.

And this high-touch service doesn't stop once you've launched. We'll be behind the scenes testing, tweaking, and making the most of your best asset.

An aerial photograph of a river delta, showing a complex network of channels and a large area of white water rapids. The water is a mix of dark blue and white, creating a textured, almost abstract pattern. The rapids are concentrated in the upper right and lower right areas, while the channels wind through the center and left. The overall tone is dark and moody, with the white water providing a stark contrast.

Don't get stuck in the white water.
Partner with First Reef for smart website solutions.

The things we do best

As a full service web development agency, we're ready to jump in at any stage of your project. In close collaboration with our clients and a small group of industry experts, we're here to help with:

- ▶ Website development, optimisation, and maintenance
- ▶ Digital strategy and execution

When it comes to clear digital communication and websites that make your life easier, First Reef is your first choice.

Key Staff

Conrad Kenyon

Project Director / Partner

Conrad is our Project Director, who's journey into marketing and communication began in the film industry in London in the 90's.

16 years ago, Conrad relocated to the South Coast and started an award-winning web development business, Open Copy.

Conrad joins each project at the exploration stage, as an ardent advocate for the end-user.

As project director for every client, Conrad is the main point of contact and is committed to responsive collaboration.

Michael Dolphin

Production Director / Partner

Michael is our Creative Production Director, bringing modern design sensibilities to all our projects.

His experience with both design and development means Michael's involvement with our client projects is integral from beginning to end.

Since starting his development career in 2014 with a Diploma in Interactive and Digital Media, Michael has worked with an impressive portfolio of clients Australia-wide.

How we can help

Whether you have a defined vision for your project or just an idea on how it should work, we can help.

Our purpose is to provide informed digital strategy and implementation services in close collaboration with our clients.

The brief:

- ▶ Communicate the cultural significance of the Great Southern region.
- ▶ Bring more visibility to the region by connecting locals and visitors to unique places and experiences.

The result:

- ▶ Photos, videos and Aboriginal-inspired art pays respect to the traditional owners.
- ▶ Custom map functionality with sidebar interaction means users get a sense of the geography of the area – and makes navigating the site a breeze.
- ▶ Standard back-end location templates mean admins can make easy updates.
- ▶ The Journeys page allows users to filter and create their own Great Southern adventure with interactive maps and a detailed outline of the facilities along the way.

Overview

Nunijup is said to mean "place of many snakes" - a descriptive name back when this was a special meeting place for the Kaneang people of the Noongar nation. In those days, Nunijup was a wetland covered in thick stands of rushes which provided cover for tiger snakes.

Early settlers dug wells here for stockmen driving stock through the district. In 1958 the Nunijup Progress Association was formed, a group still active today. Rushes that remained were cleared from the lake, and water diverted from the Kent River headlands to keep water levels in the lake levels.

FINE ART

ABOUT

Fine Art Photography

Photography, like other forms of communication such as writing, drawing, and painting, can be directed to ward many different uses, including fine art.

So what is fine art ?

Art can mean many things too many different people, but it's broadly accepted that it is an expression of creative skill and imagination that is appreciated for its beauty and/or emotional power.

Some also say that art should make you question; A notion I personally subscribe to.

So if we accept any of the statements above we can clearly see that photography, in its many styles and forms, can easily fall into the realms of fine art, dependent upon the intent of the creation and the willingness of the viewer to truly observe the photograph.

While visiting photographic exhibitions with my students I often observed them wandering past each image, barely giving a passing glance to the works set out before them. I realised that a lot of people do not actually "see" the world around them, but only observe what is in their minds relative to their immediate needs at a given moment.

If one cannot see art , how could one possibly appreciate it?

I realised it was important to teach my students how to read an image. The first step was to

And so, the company "Custom Image Library" was born.

Custom Image Library is not only a collection of photographic images you can use which are specific and unique to your area of business activity, but a selection of high-quality images that you and your staff have immediate access to when developing your business communication, be it Online, ads, brochures, newsletters, in fact, the applications are endless.

Not only do you have free access to your very own high-quality images that are unique to your business, freeing up hours and hours of wasted staff time searching for "the right image", but if you commission a Custom Image Library, you will also get the benefit of a reduced price of 20% on any subsequent product shot you may want to add to your library and a 10% discount on daily and half daily photographic rates.

Albany Community Hospice is committed to delivering clinical excellence with loving kindness.

Our focus is on the patient and enabling them to live as well as possible until death. This includes their physical, emotional, psychological and spiritual wellbeing as well as supporting their family or significant others.

The original Albany Community Hospice was opened in November 1989, after a study of local needs for the care of terminally ill people indicated a need to supplement the services already being provided by the Albany Regional Hospital and Silver Chain. Read more History of Hospice.

Albany Community Hospice, 30 years later, remains very much community owned and funded. It is still run by a volunteer Board of Management, employs many volunteers with a variety of gifts and talents, and receives much needed funds from a wide range of community groups and individuals.

The Hospice ensures accountability at all levels of the organisation through key structures, systems and processes for the delivery of safe, effective and high quality palliative care. ACH is committed to partnering with guests, families, carers and community to identify safety and quality issues and the solutions. View our Clinical Governance Framework.

Vertical Garden Perth

Vertical gardens, also known as living walls or green walls, are a recent innovative development in landscaping with a host of benefits. Vegetation is grown in specially designed systems that are supported vertically, creating exciting new possibilities for landscape, urban and interior design.

Deep Green has been pioneering vertical garden systems for specific application in Western Australia; with specialised lightweight growing media, automated direct reticulation methods and a palette of species specifically selected to be hardy, adaptable and aesthetically pleasing.
